in the last decades of the twentieth century american lutherans embarked on a journey fraught with peril and filled with promise the formation of a new church intended to unite lutherans throughout the country in a shared vision of ministry service and fellowship congregations leaders institutions publications programs the whole ministerial infrastructure of three of the country's lutheran church bodies were reborn with the ringing in of the new year in 1988 yet the birth of this new church the evangelical lutheran church in america elca was not universally celebrated from his front row seat as the elca's first secretary lowell g almen tells the story of the elca's birth life and growing pains as it sought to promote and embody christian unity a dream eclipsed is a memoir of the elca's first three and a half decades told from the wealth of almen's personal and professional experience it offers a unique view into the triumphs tribulations and ongoing work of the elca's founding era as the church looks forward to what lies ahead in facing that future almen writes the evangelical lutheran church in america and the whole church always must be on the road to emmaus luke 24:13-35 taught by the resurrected christ informed by the words of scripture and renewed in faith through the breaking of the bread in the lost soul of american protestantism d g hart examines the historical origins of the idea that faith must be socially useful in order to be valuable through specific episodes in presbyterian lutheran and reformed history hart presents a neglected form of protestantism confessionalism as an alternative to prevailing religious theory he explains that unlike evangelical and mainline protestants who emphasize faith's role in solving social and personal problems confessional protestants locate christianity's significance in the creeds ministry and rituals of the church although critics have accused confessionalism of encouraging social apathy hart deftly argues that this form of protestantism has much to contribute to current discussions on the role of religion in american public life since confessionalism refuses to confuse the well being of the nation with that of the church the history of confessional protestantism suggests that contrary to the legacy of revivalism faith may be most vital and influential when less directly relevant to everyday problems whether personal or social clear and engaging d g hart's groundbreaking study is essential reading for everyone exploring the intersection of religion and daily life when many christian congregations are asking how can we draw new members into our midst the authors reframe the question how can congregations make new disciples and deepen the faith of long time christians rediscovery of the early church catechumenate provides a means to form new disciples in today's culture inspiring case studies of four congregations emphasize the contextual flexibility of adult faith formation interviews with catechumenal leaders and participants in adult faith formation reveal how a catechumenate that is central to congregational life can energize and orient the people of god toward the mission of god opening windows into congregational life especially at worship those who had journeyed through the adult faith formation process describe their experiences and the profound changes that took place in them adult faith formation is a journey not a program of belonging believing and behaving that draws people into christ's orbit for life as one participant said for the first time i understood what it meant to be a christian through the adult catechumenate she heard the voice of christ calling her to new life and a rich baptismal identity pulpit and politics presents the most current and comprehensive examination of the religious beliefs and political behavior of american clergy at the advent of the new millennium based on data gathered during the 2000 presidential election this study examines the relationship between belief and behavior theology and politics religious commitments and social activism from african american baptist jewish mainline protestant roman catholic and other religious groups pulpit and politics is a treasure trove of historical comparative and statistical information about the political behavior of america s clergy drawing on unpublished documents and archival materials quill presents a historical survey of the modern liturgical movement with a detailed analysis of its theological and practical impact on 20th century american lutheranism quill explores the lutheran debate which revolves around the concept of a eucharistic prayer in his liturgical reforms luther rejected the eucharistic prayer as found in the canon of the mass quill demonstrates that it is possible to create a eucharistic prayer which complements lutheran eucharistic theology since american lutheran liturgies and hymnals will soon undergo revision the issues addressed will contribute to the anticipated debates and appeal to pastors church musicians seminary students and students of liturgy
